Overview:

Other companies have joined the original group of leading manufacturers of slicers and meat grinders, which formed over two decades ago to help handle the many challenges of the market. The new members have helped to broaden the representativeness of the association.

Currently, the

extremely diverse
range of products
of member
companies makes Assofoodtec the most important
and significant association for all
those involved in
the production of
equipment for the
food industry,
hotels,
restaurants, and
catering.

Italian products
are now world
market leaders
thanks to a long
tradition combined
with a careful
choice of materials
and compliance
with international standards.

In this regard, the association has
always paid
special attention
to changing
national and international standards in order
to improve the
compliance of
products with
current legislation.
The ongoing
presence of the association's
technical experts
in the most important
international for a,
which study and
define industry
standards,
provides additional protection to companies and their products.

The association organizes information and technical study meetings to help companies with the difficulties they often face when trying to interpret and apply EU regulations.

Thanks to their innovative business spirit and continual modernization of production techniques, our affiliated companies are able to meet the needs of a changing market, with its many and varying demands.
